action in the matter as soon as possible after they shall next assemble. The law on the subject should not only provide for the inspection of boilers, but also for the inspection of engineers, and for the employment of steam and water gauges in addition to the ordinary safety valve. By these means alone can any sufficient security be given to those who work or live in the vicinity of steam boilers, or who, in walking along the street, have to cross these subterranean mines that are liable to explode at any

THE WEST WASHINGTON MARKET CASE.-The werdict of the jury, rendered on Saturday in this case, involving the title of the city to the premises under West Washington Market, takes the right of property from the city to all but fortyeight feet of ground, and vests the remainder in the State. This verdict, we are sure, will be appealed from, as it ought to be, for if there be any doubt that the intention of the Montgomery charter was to grant to the city four hundred feet beyond low water mark, from Bastaver's rivulet to Castle Garden, in a straight line, thus taking in the bend of the shore between these points, it should be settled at the court of last resort. The point at issue was one of fact simply-what the low water mark was when the charter was granted. The Corporation who were the defendants in the case, claimed that the premises occupied by West Washington market, and the piers and bulkheadss. are within the four hundred feet granted by the charter, while on the other hand the plaintiffs, Taylor & Brennen, lessees under the State, claimed that the premises are outside of that line, and that they were therefore entitled to the value of the property held under their lease from April, 1858, to April, 1859.

It will be observed that the jury have located the low water mark, at the time the charter was made, in 1730, four hundred feet east of forty-eight feet west of the westerly line of West street, or three hundred and fifty-two feet shove that line easterly, back into the city, and therefore have decided that only forty-eight feet of the premises belong to the city, thus giving to the State 352 feet formerly under water, now filled in and improved, claimed by the city, and really belonging to it. Moreover, they declare the value of the property leased by Taylor and Brennen to be $47,360 for one year. This verdict, we understand, carries with it $2,500, the costs allowed by the court, and $15,000 rent of the piers, making a total of $65,000. When it is remembered that these parties only paid the State five thousand dollars for the lease, it must be admitted that they made a fat job of it, and that if this verdict is to be confirmed the city has lost a very valuable piece of property, upon which it expended considerable sums in reclaiming from the water and improving, and which it can very badly afford to lose in the present crippled state of its finances. It is the intention of the Corporation. however, to appeal this case, and it is necessathat a higher court should decide it, as others of a similar character may spring up at any

Mr. Douglas in Mississippi.-The democracy of Noxubee county, Mississippi, have recently resolved that should Mr. Douglas be the nominee of the Charleston Convention they "cannot and will not support him;" and at a large democratic meeting in Oktibbeha county, in the same State, it was resolved that the meeting "repudiate with loathing and contempt the odious doctrine recently promulgated by Stephen A. Douglas." Such, too, appears to be the prevailing democratic manifestations in the South concerning the "Little Giant:" and from them it is evident that in 1860 he must take his choice between a capitulation, which will reduce him to the democratic ranks, or a bolt, which will place him in the position of Martin Van Buren.

The October Session of the Common Council.

The October session of the Board of Aldermen will commence this evening, and as the elections are approaching fect. There is nothing expected to come up that we have not already alluded to, but there will be a vast quantity of routine business, and some reports of committees on street opening, and other matters looked forward to with in-

Orders have been sent from the Navy Department for the return of the United States steamer Wabash, the flagship of the Mediterranean squadron. The Flag Officer will turn over the command of the squadron to Captain Levy, now in command of the Macedonia. The cruise of the Wabash would not have expired until next summer, but as she would not be able to cruise during the winter months, the Department have ordered her return, which will be a large saving to the government. The steam sloop Irequois will be sent to the Mediterranean out affecting its efficiency for peace purposes. The Wa-bash will enter the port of New York, where her crew will be discharged, unless our interests in China should require her in those seas, which is highly probable.

Advices have been received here from the Wabash, dated Genoa, September 4. While she was lying at this port a large fire occurred in that city. Her commande iespaiched to the aid of the city a portion of her officers and crew, with the fire engines of that ship. The importance of their services can be best understood by the GRAND ORGAN EXHIBITION.—An organ of the first class, built for Christ Church, Mobile, Alabama, at a cost of $7,000, has been on exhibition for the past week Erben's manufactory in Centre street. It has three sets of keys, and two and one third octaves of pedals from C C C to E, 29 notes the keys extend from the organ in front about three feet, and h'e latest approved arrangement for the pedats has been a lopted for the case and comfort of the performer. The case, corresponding with the chasts and elogant style of the charlet, is thirty feet high twenty-five feet wide and thirtees for the dep. The organ contains fifty one stops, five of which are sixteen feet stops, and 2,500 pipes, some of them of the largest character. It weighs different modes to the other pedatsops, and the five feet wide and thirtees for the trombone, when joined to the other pedatsops, and the five floragan, seemed to shake the very foundation of the building. The trumpets, clarions, basecons and hauthoys, in fact all the received stops, are excellent imitations, and their clear and distinct tones could be heard above the roor of heaviest diapasons. It also contains same magnificent soft o stops, among them we name the charabella, flute, gan ba, melodia, keraulophog and viol d'amour. The beauty and delicacy of tone of these sold stops, we are certain, could not be obtained from any other establishment in the country. As a masterpiece of mechanism, both in its general arrangements and in the execution of the minutest details, this organ is one of the base ever turned cut by Mr. Erben. We were, however, particularly delighted with this noble mixtument, at we histoned to the excellent performance of william A. King, Esq., the king of organ playors, and whose musical displays at previous exhibitions which this gentleman's extraordinary talents entitle brate, of the pedat playing received deserved apphases. We believe, in this tranch of organ playing, he has scarcely an equal in this country or in Europe. Mr. C. J. Hopkins also played with marked ability. He is a young man, and a destined to make his mark in the profession. We hear of numbers who were disappointed at not receiving notice of the opening of this organ, who would have been highly gratified to have heard the above distinguished professors perform on such a magnifi The keys extend from the organ in front about three feet,

The suspense and inconvenience in the prosecution of this work, and the great injury of the marketmen and critizens of the eastern part of this city, has been very great, but from present indications it is expected that the work will be completed this fall. The National Guard, Seventh regiment, will occupy the second and third stories.

Before Hon. Judge Ingraham. SUIT FOR LOSS OF PROPERTY AND PERSONAL SUFFER

Oct. 1 .- Isaac McKim Bowly vs. The United States Mail Steamship Company .- An action has been commenced in this court for the loss of property of the plaintiff, and the injury and sufferings inflicted on his wife and children, in the shipwreck of the steamer Central America, which foundered at sea in 1857, and on which occasion, it will be recoilected, that out of six hundred persons, including officers and crew, nearly two-thirds were lost or drowned at sea. From the statement of Mr. Daniel Bowly, counsel for the plaintiff, it appears that the defendants formerly owned a steamship called the George Law, which was wrecked upon a corni reef somewhere on the capset of St. Domingo, and was there greatly damaged; that the defendants subsequently changed the name of that vessel, after being repaired, to that of the Central America; that the plaintiff was thereby deceived as to the character of the vessel, and not knowing those facts, plaintiff alleges that he took first cabin passage in August, 1857, for his wife and two small children by the steamer Central America from Aspinwall to New York, together with a quantity of baggage and personal property; that about the 12th of September, 1857, in a comparatively smooth sea, the Central America filled with water, which extinguished her fires, and sunk and became a total loss by reason of her unseaworthiness; that there was not small noats enough, nor of sufficient strength to save all the passongers and personal property, and that property to the amount of $5,000 belonging to the plaintiff was lost; that his wife and children suffered much and sustained personal injuries by reason of the wreck. Dumages are taid at $10,000. The present motion, made by Mossrs. Hall and Vanderpool, on part of the defendants, is to strike out certain portions of the complaint.

After argument of counsel, the Court granted the motion to the extent of striking out the evidence going to show unseaworthiness before the vessel sailed, but denied it as to all the other points. this court for the loss of property of the plaintiff, and th injury and sufferings inflicted on his wife and children.

Jersey City News. THE BERGEN TUNNEL DIFFICULTIES .- Mr. Seymour, the contractor on the Bergen tunnel, according to his promise nade during the late riot, commenced on Saturday evenmade during the late riot, commenced on Saturday evening to pay off the men in his employ the amounts due them previous to the month just closed. The cash portion of the wages of last month is not payable until the 15th of the present month. The men, however, have been allowed to draw provisions and such other articles from the store, on account, as they required, and everything appears to be getting along in a satisfactory manner.
Mayor Collard, of Hudson City, has been as indefatigable in his efforts to see justice done to the men as he was in putting them down in the riot.

FOUND DROWNED .- On Saturday Coroner Morris held an inquest upon the body of a man found near the Cunard dock in Jersey City, whose name is supposed, from letters and papers found on his person, to be Squire Bradley, of and papers found on his person, to be Squire Bradley, of Franklin, Essex county, N. J. The head was considerably bruised, but whether from violence or caused while the body was in the water, could not be determined. The jury accordingly rendered a verdict that decased came to his death from causes unknown. Deceased was between 30 and 40 years of age, about 5 feet 10 inches high, and had black hair and goatee. He had on a black cloth coat, light Marseilles vest, gray cassimere pants, white muslim shirt and calf skin shoes. Besides letters addressed to Bradley, there was also a pass book centaining accounts between him and John Duncan, a store keeper of Franklin.

THE WASHINGTON EQUESTRIAN STATUE .- The re-THE WASHINGTON EQUESTRIAN STATUE.—The re-cent easting of the principal portion of the equestrian statue of Washington, by Clark Mills, having proved a success, a rustic pedestal is to be constructed upon which the work of art is to be elevated at a height of forty feet. The place selected by the President is at a very remote part of the city, but Congress may see the policy of locat-ing it at a more central one. The 22d of February will probably be designated for inauguration of the statue, and Senator Hunter is spoken of fer orator on the occasion.

Answer to Natural Inquiry.
TO THE EDITOR OF THE RERAD. .
In your issue of September 13, a " Natural Inquiry" is made respecting the result of the Fair of the Laties' Union Aid Society, held at Niblo's Garden in December last. The inquiry might be natural enough if the annua report had since been published without giving a detailed account of its net proceeds. As this is not the case, we hope very soon to answer satisfactorily, not only to your correspondent, but to our friends and the public. For the correspondent, but to our friends and the public. For the information of those unacquainted with the usages of the society, it may be proper to say that its business is more or less distributed through all the Methodist Episcopai churches on the island, which renders it necessary to take the year for the adjustment of its affairs; and we have deemed it expedient to withhold a partial report, as more or less money has been paid on account of the fair at the several meetings of the Board of Managers since its close. The current year of the acciety ends on the lat of November, after which a full and satisfactory answer may be found in the "treasurer's report."

RECORDING SECRETARY.

P. S.—Should your inquirer be disposed to "rejoice with these who do rejoice," we will add, that at the time of the fair last winter the society's indebtedness was upwards of $23.000, which, with the awals of the fair, together with the sale of some of its property effected last week, is reduced to about $10,000. The society was organized in $1850, and now owns a property worth early $50,000, including the above incombrance, besides having supported a large and mitim family for nine years. A set of books showing the receipts and disbursements during its existence, with a family and burial register, will be spen for inspection at the institution in November, when all interested are invited to visit and examine the records.

THE WEST WASHINGTON MARKET CASE-A CORRECTION In the report of Saturday's proceedings in the Supreme Court in the trial of the title to the West Washington market premises, a slight inaccuracy occurred in the for "east." The verdict was that the jury found the low water mark in 1730 to be 400 feet east of 48 feet west of the westerly side of West street; that all the premises be youd 48 feet west of the westerly side of West street were outside the 400 feet beyond low water mark; and that the value of the premises for the year beginning April, 1858, and ending April, 1859, was $47,360.

This verdict carries with it the $2,500 allowed by the Ceurt for cests, and $15,000 for rent of piers beyond the made land, making a total of $65,000 against the city.
